Charged With a Crime Mysterious as the Stillwell Tragedy and Brutal as Duestrow's.

Ex-Gov. Charles P. Johnson was retained Monday as counsel for the defendant in a murder case at Hillsboro, III, that is as sensational as the Stillwell tragedy at Hannibal.

Hillsboro has a population of 3,000, is the capital of Montgomery County, and is located on the Big Four Railread, sixty-six miles northeast of St. Louis.

Last Thursday the Grand-jury returned an indictment for murder against Robert W. Young. a prominent and prosperous farmer and business man.

Young received a good education and when 2 years old married Hattie Price, the libyear-daughter of a prosperous farmer in the neighborhood. The young couple had grown up together and as they seemed devotedly attached to each other, every one propheside for them a happy future. About a year after their marriage a son was born whom they named Isaac. One day about six months later, Mrs. Young war. The servant refused to leave, seeming to feel sure of the protection of Young.

Mrs. Young's jeslousy steadily increased. She civilized that each day her husband's attention toward the girl grew more marked At last she informed her husband that if he did not at once dismiss the servant she would leave him. This was about the first of last January.

Mrs. Young took two of her parents.

For the first time she told her mother what her married life had been. Her famlism of the outside world was concerned, they were leading a happy life.

more apparent than ever.

Mrs. Young again took refuge beneath her father's roof. This was about the middle of April.

She remained away from her husband about two months, during which time it is said her husband sent her no word, neither did he make any attempt to see her. Anna White remained as his housekeeper. About the middle of June her love for her husband and children and the desire to see them again grew so strong that, acting against the advice and wishes of her family, Mrs. Young returned to the home she had forsaken. Her husband was absent. She had a talk with the White garl which resulted in the latter taking leave of the

For a consideration of soulous passes from the Turner Real Estate Company to W. W. Culver, President of the Wrought Iron Range Company of this city.

The deal was engineered by Festus J. Wade of the Anderson-Wade Realty Co. The purchaser, Mr. Culver, had his attention directed to the property some time ago, but hesitated about closing up with an offer. Friday afternoon he was informed of the sale of the Laclede building site by Mr. Wade, and was encouraged thereby, and by the undoubted value of the property, to make an offer of $300,000.

This offer Mr. Wade submitted to the Turner Real Estate Co. Saturday morning, and the purchase was closed and deeds passed Monday morning, making it one of the quickest deals for so important a property in the history of either of the real estate concerns involved.

erty in the history of either of the real estate concerns involved.

This property, which is directly across Olive street from the handsome building occupied by the Missouri Glass Co., has been in the Lucas and Turner families for the past 50 years. It is a square lot fronting 100 feet on Twelfth street and 100 feet on Olive street to a 20-foot alley. It is practically unimproved, as it is occupied by several dilapidated old rookeries that have for years been an eyesore to the neighborhood. The purchase price is in itself an indication of the marked enhancement of values on both Olive and Twelfth streets which has taken place in a few years. Mr. Culver paid $3,000 per front foot for his corner. The opposite corner, occupied by the Missouri Glass Co's. building, sold in 1891 for $2,500 per foot.

The sale is also remarkable in that it combined with the Laclede building site which amounted to $340,000, foots up more in the aggregate for two days' sales than the entire transactions of the local market for the past sixty days. No other argument on the return of business activity is needed.

and 1 o'clock last night a lynching party visited the jail at Prince Edward County, located at Farmville, and attempted to take the life of Elisha Johnson, colored, awaiting trial for an assault and highway robbery alleged to have been committed by Johnson Tuesday night upon a white man named "Wax" Price. There were in the party a half dozen determined men, one of whom climbed the high surrounding jail fence and unhooking the gate admitted the others. The prisoner was confined in a lower cell and when asked through the window if he was Elisha, the reply came that the man wanted was in the next room. The would-be lynchers immediately opened fire upon the prisoner, who was lying upon his couch paralyzed from fright. He could not be seen well through the window and cell bars and only one load of shot from the volley fired at him took effect. His wounds are not serious Johnson, it is alleged, waylald Price near Price's Depot, in this county, and struck him on the head and robbed him. Price's injuries are not serious and there is much surprise that an attempt at lynching was made.

The indictment charges Young with the murder of his wife and 2-year-old daughter, Laura.

On the aight of July 3 last, Young's house, about a quarter of a mile from Donnellson was burned. The bodies of his wife and daughter were found in the ruins. Both bodies were burned a most beyond recognition, especially the daughter's. Her skull was crushed or burned off and her body charred almost to a crisp.

The body of Mrs. Young was also terribly burned, except on the left breast, which part appeared to have been scarcely touched by the flames.

Those on the scene at first supposed the tragedy was an accident. This idea was dispelled when, upon a closer examination of the woman's body, they found two bullet woulds in the region of her heart.

Buspicion at once attached to her husband. It was known that he and his wife had not tived happily together, and that she had more than once left him and taken refuge with her parents on account of what she tarmed his outrageous conduct towards her.

A few days after the tragedy the case was laid before State's Attorney Thomas M. Jett and a warrant for murder was issued against Young. He was arrested at his father's home by Sheriff Randall and lodged in Jail at Hillsborn. There he now is awaiting a grial for his life.

burned in an attempt to save his wife and child before the rescuers arrived.

No one could be found who remembers noticing any burns er other injuries on Young. All say that the next day he was about apparently as well as ever.

On the day to lowing the funeral suspleion began to grow in the minds of the dead woman's relatives that she and her daughter had met their death by foul play. In the afternoon her brother, Clark Nichols, and Samuel White, her brother-in-law, called on State's Attorney Jett, and telling him their suspicions asked to have the bedies exhumed.

A careful examination of Mrs. Young's body revealed two clearly defined bullet wounds in her left breast. When this fact became known the wildest excitement prevailed in the community. Nearly everyone denounced Young as the murderer of his wife and child and it only needed a leader for the people to take the law into their own hands.

The body of the child was so badly burned that it was impossible to tell whether she had been shot or not.

A post-mortem was held on the body of Mrs. Young which showed that the bullets had passed through her lung and that there was a large clot of blood near the heart.

A warrant was promptly sworn out

On three different occasions the prosecu-tion has presented its case, but each time the defense has offered not a word in the prisoner's behalt.

It is understood that Young's defense will be that his wife was insane, and that she shot herself and then set fire to the house, with the intention of destroying the entire family.

After the bullet wounds were found in Mrs. Young's breast, a careful search was made in the ruins of the house for a revolver. None was found.

This, to the minds of the people, precludes the possibility that she shot herse?.

A kerosene can was found in the ruins of her bedroom, but, with the exception of the top being slightly burned, it was not injured.

He was thought to be a very wealthy miser and was known to have had an iron safe in his hut in which his supposed wealth was kept.

The Coroner, in investigating the old man's death, found a library of splendid books, several exquisite pictures, a lot of carpenter's tools and a regular armory of guns and pistols in the hut, but the iron safe had disappeared. BOUNDARY TROUBLE.

Complications Between the United States Government and Canada. OTTAWA, Nov. 16.-There is a good chance tween the United States and Canada over the troubles in the Yukon district.

In places such as Forty-Mile Creek, where the boundary is supposed to pass and where some of the creeks are in American and some in Canadian territory, it is impossible to determine those which belong to Canada and those which do not.

In reference to the charges concerning United States trespassers on British territory in the Yukon district and the washing of gold in Canadian waters, the Secretary of State says that this state of affairs arises from the fact that the Commissioners appointed to define the boundary line between the two countries have not yet submitted their report to the Government.

The district alleged to have been invaded is a Canadian town named Cudahy, at Forty-Mile Creek, and is the headquarters of the mounted police in the Yukon district. There is a United States Post-office there, but it is not recognized by the Canadian Government.

The Canadians and the Americans in the District of Yukon are anxiously waiting for the official announcement which will define the Canadian territory from that of the United States.

mortgage bonds of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railway Company, and of all other holders of consolidated Frisco bonds.

The complainant names as defendants the St Louis & San Francisco Railway, the defunct company, and the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad, its successor, organize by the foreclosure purchasers. He also names the Mercantile Trust Company trustee under the consolidated bonds; Aldac

Walker and John J. McCook, receivers of the Frisco & Atchison; Louis Fitzgerald

Kennedy Tod, Benj. P. Cheney, Isaac M. Seligman, Charles S. Gleed, James A Blair, Sigmund Alsberg, Samuel C. Eastman members of the Reorganization Committee members of the Reorganization Committee.
Mr. Braman, in his prayer, petitions the Circuit Court to declare the foreclosure sale of the Frisco assets to be null and void, to enjoin the officers of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad from issuing any kind of bonds on the property, and to appoint receivers for the St. Louis & San Francisco railway and the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad.

Not only was business diyerted to the Atchison and debts put on the Frisco but, Mr. Braman declares, a fictitious indebtedness of the Frisco to the Atchison was created. This indeptedness amounted to $3,208,009.

mr. Braman declares, a fictitious indebtedness of the Frisco to the Atchison was created. This indektedness amounted to $3,28,059.

In the meantime, the plaintiff declared, the credit of the Atchison was failing and the company was known to its officers and to the officers of the 'Frisco to be insolvent long before the receivership proceedings were instituted.

In order to conceal their mismanagement of the Frisco, and to further increase their hold on that property, the officers of the Atchison, it is alleged, devised a scheme to get hold of the first and second preferred stocks of the Frisco. They succeeded by giving holders of preferred stock consolidated bonds by way of exchange.

He also prays the court to call on the defendants to make an account of their stewardship of the property.

In support of his prayer Mr. Braman recites the history of the Frisco in connection with the Atchison. He declares that prior to its purchase by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad the St. Louis & San Francisco Railway was paying dividends on its first and second preferred stock.

After the purchase the Atchison systematically diverted business to itself from the Frisco and forced the Frisco to bear the burden of the Atchison, although its gross earnings amounted to only 14 per cent.

The consolidated Frisco bonds which were not exchanged for preferred stock were kept in the treasury of the Atchison and sold to pay the running expenses of the Atchison.

Mr. Braman recites the appointment of receivers for the Atchison and by consequence for the Frisco when the insolvency of the Atchison became a subject of common talk. He declares that during the receivers of the Atchison and by consequence for the Frisco when the insolvency of the Atchison that they, as receivers of the Frisco, set aside the fictitious indebtedness of the Frisco to the Atchison, but they refused.

He says that in order to induce United States Judge Henry Caldwell to sign the decree of foreclosure of the Frisco, which he did last April, the defendants, n

L. F. Parker, general attorney of the Frisco road, could not be found. John T. Woodruff, assistant attorney, while declining to go into a detailed statement, said:

"The suit will not surprise any railroad men. It arises from an old contention over the sale of the St. Louis, Salem & Little Rock road and has been dragging along for years. It has been thoroughly gone over before this."

They are living together at the corner of Union avenue and Morley street in East Moberly.

Kirtlink. In this last letter Mrs. Gentle claims to have been deserted by her husband, and that he had left her for another woman, taking this woman, Mrs. Kirtlink, to this city, where she had learned they were living as man and wife.

Mrs. Gentle, in her letter, tells practically the same story given in Sunday's Post-Dispatch of her treatment and final abandonment by her husband.

On this letter Chief of Police Fox was ordered to bring Mr. Gentle and Mrs. Kirtlink tian Brothers' Band and the College Orchestra, both of which have attracted much attention and have made a reputation for the college as a musical center.

Prof. Gecks was the tutor of many musicians who have won renown in St. Louis and elsewhere. He was known as a courtly gentleman of the old school and was always ready, both with brain and purse, to help struggling young musicians.

He was a member of the Choral Symphony Orchestra from its inception, playing under the leadership of Prof. Poppen, Prof. Waldauer and Prof. Ernst.

He was a prominent member of the Lieder-kranz and one of the organizers of the Wagner-Verein and was connected with most of the leading German musical and secret societies.

Mr. Gentle was asked for his side of the story. In response he said that he had never said one word against his wife, but had borne the insults heaped upon him without a murmur, and allowed her to rob him of the entire earnings of a lifetime without saying one word, but that now she had begun the fight, he intended to fight back and she would learn to her cost that he can do so. He said that while they lived on his farm in Pike County he made a fool of his wife, spoiling her by treating her as a lady, never allowing her to do any work of any kind, he even doing the cooking and washing; that until they moved to Hannibal they had lived together peaceably, but that from the time he sold his farm and bought the home at Hannibal with his own money, having the deed to the property made in his wife's name, it had been an impossibility to live in peace with her; that he had repeatedly tried it, only to be ordered from the house and mistreated shamefully.

He says that while they lived on the farm she tormented him continually about selling the farm and buying property in Hannibal, which he at last did in order to please her. He also claims that he has money loaned out in Hannibal; that his wife has the notes and will not give them up to him, having taken them from him and notified the parties owing him not to pay the money to anyone but her, as she holds the notes. He says that when she drove him away the last time she locked all of his clothes except those he has on in her wardrobe and refused to let him have them.

He admits bringing Mrs. Kirtlink to this city with him when he came, but says he only did it because he had known her all her life, and that, having left her husband, although living with her mother and brothers, near Frankfort, yet she had no place to go, and he thought they could get along nicely together here, he bearding with her. He now declares his intention of returning to Hannibal this week, for the purpose of taking an officer with him to his wife's house and securing his personal property, clothing, notes, etc.

CITY LIGHTING PLANS SUBMITTED.

BUSY DAY FOR THE PUBLIC IM-PROVEMENTS COMMITTEE.

COMPANIES AS CONTESTANTS.

Every Alley in One District Will Be Asked as a Passageway for Conduits.

"This is our busy day," was stamped upon the tense features of every member of the Board of Public Improvements Monday. The volume of work necessary to get everything in shape for inserting the advertisements in the daily papers, as required by the terms of the general conduit ordinance, was great-er even than anticipated. President McMath was at his desk at 9 o'clock, but not any too early, for M. A. Ross, the President of the Laclede Gas Company, came in immediately after with an pany, came in immediately after with an application and plans in the name of the Phoenix Light, Heat and Power Company of St. Louis. The plans indicated a purpose to occupy nearly all the streets in the underground territory, but none of the alleys. The Phoenix company is another name for the Laclede Gas Light Company. The Laclede company claims underground privileges under the terms of its State charter, but the city maintains that the charter has expired by limitation. The matter has been in the courts a long time. The State Supreme Court decided against the company, and it appealed to the United States Supreme Court, where the case is now pending. The company could not, under the circumstances, recognize the new ordinance, but neither could it afford to take the chances of being left out in case of an adverse decision from the Supreme Court. The application in the name of the Phoenix company was the result.

At 9:45 o'clock Chester H. Krum filed an application and plans in his own name for the Trans-Mississippi Electric Co. The application was type-written, with the name of the company written in ink.

He manifested considerable solicitude over the documents, asking Secretary Foster for a receipt.

Mr. Krum declined to give out any inforapplication and plans in the name of the

Mr. Krum declined to give out any information about the company or its intentions. It wants to run a main conduit 4x2 feet in dimensions east and west from the Levee to Twenty-second street on Pine street, and on all other streets, including Tom street, which had not previously been claimed, branch conduits lx1 feet. The conduits are to be of clay piping. They are to be laid on the south and east sides of streets whenever practicable.

A number of discrepancies between the application and the plans of the St. Louis Electric Light and Power Co. were discovered Monday morning.

At 10 o'clock the only alleys for which application had not been made were those in city blocks 105, 211 E, 211 W, 216 and 286, but Supervisor of City Lighting O'Rellly had information that the Edison company would take these up and fill the map by applying for every street and alley in the district.

Just before 10 o'clock the Edison Illum-would take these up and hit the map by applying for every street and alley in the district.

Just before 10 o'clock the Edison Illuminating Co. filed application for every block of every street and alley in the district with the exception of only half a dozen.

At 10 o'clock the Board met, with all the members in attendance.

The interested spectators were D. W. Guernsey and C. E. Delafield, representing the St. Louis Electric Light and Power Co.; C. F. Kroell of the Citizens' Electric Light and Power Co.; Herbert E. Wagner, representing the Edison, the Missouri and the Electric Light, Power and Conduit Co.; Geo. F. Durant of the Bell Company; Moses Greenwood, Jr., who is supposed to represent the Sutter people; Frank Nidelet and Elliott Jones, who said they were "mere spectators." but took copious notes.

When the Board was called to order Supervisor of City Lighting O'Reilly read a list of ten companies which had filed their applications in the office of the Board. They were as follows:

Electric Light, Power and Conduit Company, Edison Illuminating Company of St. Louis Fleatric Light and Power Company, Edison Illuminating Company of St. Louis, Trans-Mississippi Electric Company, Samuel Cupples; Phoenix Light, Heat and Power Company, Western Union Telegraph Company, To the list was then added the name of

The committee drew up a form of advertisement by which the Board will announce the public hearing for December 7, on all the streets and alleys, the board on its own motion taking in the few hundred yards not included in the plans of any of the companies.

The advertisement will be inserted in all the local daily papers. The advertisement will be inserted in all the local daily papers.

The applications of thirteen companies cover every street in the district from the Levee to Twenty-second street, and from Spruce to Wash streets, except the Levee and Eugenia street, and every alley except those in city blocks 106, 211E, 211W.

Samuel Cupples is the only man who has applied for streets outside the district. He wants to extend a few spurs south of Spruce street.

wants to extend a few spurs south of Spruce street.

An adjournment was taken to 3 o'clock, when a session began which may last all night.

Moses Greenwood, Jr., said that his only object in attending the meeting was to see if application was made for all the streets. He will come in under the advertisement. He said he was not at liberty to say whom he was representing.

It Is the Commissioners' Purpose Keep Up Their Investigating Tours All Winter.

The Police Commissioners intend keeping up their nocturnal investigations of the de-partment for which they are responsible. The Sunday Post-Dispatch told of the investigations of Commissioners Lee, Kelly and Bannerman in the Central, Third, Fourth and Fifth Districts. They kept in the downtown districts until after the cars stopped running. Then Commissioner Ban-nerman went home and Commissioners Kelly and Lee started for the Sixth and Seventh Districts in a buggy.

While they were there the patrol wagon drove up with seven young toughs as prisoners and a few minutes later Patrolman Hancock brought in a bad negro.

A telephone message also came from the O'Fallon Park station, advising them to look out for three men who had run away from Sergt. Monrotus. They were white men, but their faces were blackened with burnt cork or soot.

On the drive back toward the Seventh District at Twenty-ninth and Market streets, only two policemen, were encountered. This was in marked contrast to the other districts.

Speaking of their tour Monday morning Commissioner Lee said:

"We did not go to the station houses down town. The only three we entered were those of the Sixth and Seventh and the Fourth District Sub-station at Jefferson avenue and Dickson street. At the last mentioned place we found the policeman on the office beat in the station and apparently sleep. He will be investigated.

It is clear that the necessity for local self-government increases with the in-crease of such conditions. The largest possible local liberty, the least possible coercive Federal intervention are fundamentally necessary for the growth and prosperity of our different sections as ey are for the preservation of our whole political fabric. For one section, or one State, or one combination of States, to dominate the rest through the Federal Government certainly makes prosperity impossible and at all times threatens the peace and stability of the country. No matter how badly we need other things, we need nothing else so badly as we do a larger measure of local self-government.

STILL TREACHEROUS.

The treachery of the Republic to the Democratic cause was so thinly disguised during the campaign that it deceived nobody, not even its own friends. But the game of treachery is not ended with the campaign. It is an open secret that it is the intention of the men who control the Republic to make it the advocate of a policy of "concession" to the boltocrats, on the ground that it is necessary to party suc-cess to bring them back into the Democratic party. Of course a condition of their coming back is that they shall come back as leaders and again take possession of the Democratic organization.

On Friday last a few boltocrats from St Louis and elsewhere in the State met at the Rialto Building, announced that they are the Democratic party of Missouri, and put forth an address to the people of Missouri that could hardly have been surpassed in impudence by the thre tallors of Tooley street. How did the Republic treat this ridiculous gathering? It devoted a column to it under the dis-play head "State Sound Money Democrats Hold a Long Conference." The article under this display head starts out in this way: "Sound money Democrats to the tune of about eighty met yesterday

It devotes a column to power to do effective gunning for the showing that it was the "sound money Democrats" that carried St. Louis for the Republicans. Before the election the bolt-ocrats claimed that they would cast 7,000 votes in the city of St. Louis. They cast precisely 465 votes for the Palmer-Buckner electors and 342 for Trimble, their farcical candidate for Governor. Yet No form of radicalism is worse than that which carries the animosities of a returns make hoth carries the animosities of a returns make hoth capternatible and ridio.

All this is done for a purpose. The Republic is in a scheme to nominate well-known Wall Street Democrat as the every prospect of indefinite growth if we spring. To make any headway in this Democratic candidate for Mayor scheme it is necessary to magnify the strength of the so-called "sound money Democrats." This part of the work i assigned to the Republic. Will Be Costly to St. Louis.

From the Sedalia (Mo.) Der There has been more or less reckless tall about a boycott of the Pest-Dispatch by the merchants of St. Louis on account of the merchants of St. Louis on account of that paper's advocacy of free silver. The Democrat does not for a moment believe the merchants of St. Louis will undertake any such foolish method of attempting to control the metropolitan press. The Post-Dispatch made a gallant fight for one party, as did the Globe-Democrat for the other. Probably a majority of the adverparty, as did the Globe-Democrat for the other. Probably a majority of the advertisers differed from the P.-D., as uniquestionably a majority of the people of the great West and Southwest—the trade that supports St. Louis-agree with the advocate of free coinage.

It can be readily seen from this bare statement how costly to St. Louis will be any effort to boycott a great newspaper. Merchants and business men have the right to place their advertisements in such journals as they choose, just as the readers of newpapers have the right to buy goods where they please; and if these customer conclude that a merchant is running vocacy of what its readers believe to be correct principles, they will resent ft.

The Democrat entertains no doubt but that any ill-feeling that may have been en-gendered in St. Louis during the late campaign will speedily pass away, and that merchants and newspapers, gold advocates and silver men, will respect honest differ-ences of opinion and come to see that it is to the interest of neither to carry their political differences into business affairs.

The people of Cuba have repeatedly shown their desire to be released from the present thralldom and to have a form government more in consonance with tha prevailing in North and South America. This beautiful and rich island lies clos to our mainland. It is preposterous to suggest that if Spain cannot control it any other European country should have a word to say about what is to become of it It has come to this that every day Cuba remains under a foreign yoke adds to our disgrace. The Government of the United States must do its duty. We are for peace. Every good man is for peace if it can be maintained with justice and honor. If there were anything to arbitrate in the case of Cuba we would counsel arbitration, but the control of the skirt is oilcloth and bloomers are worn underwe would not choose our traditional enemy, Great Britain, for an arbitrator. The Republic has been in my house for years and years, every day, but since it has proven itself a traitor to the party it never shall again. I have heard many citizens say the same. The people are with you, and your good work is felt and appreciated by the people of Arkansas, and it will aid us in adding to our large majority for Bryan in 1906.

A Boycott Diverts Business.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I notice in your paper a disposition among some of your business men of St. Louis to boycoit the Post-Dispatch for the boild and courageous stand it took for Bryan and free silver. McKinley is elected and we submit. I deal in hides, poultry, etc., in a small way and have a lot that I intended shipping to your city, but if that is the spirit of your business men I for one will continue shipping elsewhere.

I am for Bryan, free silver and the Post-Dispatch and I presume if they should find it out woe be unto my hide. If they boycott you they have a better chance at me; so, under the circumstances, I will continue shipping to Memphis, where business and polities do not mix, until advised by the Post-Dispatch that all is well. I have forwarded my subscription for your paper for twelve months. With best wishes for our leader, Bryan, and the Post-Dispatch. I beg to remain, as ever, Horshound Candy.

A tested receipt for horehound candles consists of a pound of dried horehound leaves boiled in one quart of water, cooled and then boiled again for five minutes. After that strain off the liquid through a cloth; put it back on the fire and let is immer until the quantity is reduced to four or five ounces. Add an ounce of sum arable and when dissolved add enough fire sugar to make a dourt.

With a soft brush and scap and water remove all dirt, rub them carefully with eau de Cologne, wipe with a soft cloth, and put in bran or boxwood dust to dry.

Jewels generally should not be wiped after they are washed, only a soft brush should be used to them. Rinse them from the soap and water and put them face downward in boxwood dust to dry.

Bags of silk may be filled with the following: Lavender flowers stripped from the stalk, dried thyme, dried leaves of sweetscented verbena, a few pounded cloves an caraway seeds, mixed well together. The sachets are very nice for scenting hous or underlines.

Two quarts of boiling water, one table-spoonful of salt; into this stir slowly one quart of commeal; boil slowly one hour. For breakfast mould the cold mush into cakes, roll them in flour and fry in a well-buttered skillet. If no member of the family is dys-peptic plenty of meat drippings answers in lieu of butter.

Habitually eating soft food, even anorthered, to the exclusion of everything that is hard or crusty, is not only weakening to the digestive organs, but it leads to rapid decay of the teeth. When these are not used in the mastication of harder foods the teeth become covered with tartar, and sometimes loosen in their sockets or the gums will bleed.

THE GRAVE DUTY THAT CON FRONTS MR. CLEVELAND.

GEN. JOHNSON'S PLAIN WORDS

American Property Destroyed and American Citizens Reduced to Poverty.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Gen. Bradley T Johnson writes to the Journal this morning of the grave duty that confronts President Cleveland in the present Cuban crisis and tells how continuance of war means ab-solute ruin to the island. In part, Gen. Johnson says:
"The administration of Mr. Cleveland i now confronted by a grave public duty, such as has rarely pressed a President of the United States. The Island of Cuba lies right at the mouth of the Gulf of Mexlies right at the mouth of the Gulf of Mex-ico. It is geographically and geologically but an extension of Florida. Politically, it is an integral part of the great American Union—the leader of free thought and free labor in all the centuries and the main hope and protector of the liberties of man-kind while civilization lasts. Americans now own property there to a value exceed-ing $50,000,000.

"The insurrection now raging there is destroying it day by day, and hour by hour. There ought to be no misunderstanding of what this means. The line is sharply drawn in Cuba. All Cubans are on the side of the rebellion. All Spaniards are on the side of the Government. There is practically no exception to this rule. There is no line of race distinction—the line of nativity is the only dividing on. It is not a negro insurrection, not a repetition of Haytl, or San Domingo. The education, the property, the patriotism of the Island are with the Cubans.

"The war being waged, if allowed to continue, can only result in making it a desolate wilderness. "Delenda est Carthago' is the mandate that has gone from Madrid to Captain General Weyler, and he is only executing the orders of his Government when he is using all his power to eradicate such a race of incendiaries and insurrectionists, in the Spanish view.

"Between the two-for war is a rough game, and neither rosewater nor kid gloves, suits it—550,000,000 of American property is being destroyed, and thousands of American citizens are being reduced to abject poverty. This is no highly colored pictuse, it is a fact. Men, women and children are murdered and their homes burned daily and hourly. International law is not regvilated by sentimental humanity. It stands and is enforced, the eternal foundation of justice and right. And it is to the everlasting honor of American institutions that her sympathies have ever been with the lowly and weak and the oppressed.

"War on the haughty; spare the humble, is the chivalric maxim of the American. It is plain to all the world that Spain can never stop this waste and bloodshed.
And it is also plain that it must be stopped, and at once. Therefore, the duty of the United States is to recognize the independence of the Cuban Republic, and in the interest of humanity, in the interest of American citizens and of Imperial control of all America to support her position by such an exhibition of physical force as will render resistance pucerile.

"The Administration ought to put this horn, Cooper, Hewitt, Bliss, Lanier, Jayne—will all be present.

The latest bit of gossip in regard to jewels is that Mrs. John Jacob Astor will appear in a girdle of diamonds. She has two diamond mercury wings which she may also wear. Consuelo, Duchess of Mariborough, appeared in a diamond girdle when she was first presented to the Queen and quite electrified the old lady, no doubt.

Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont is said to be the possessor still of over $1,000,000 of jewels. She has some of the Empress Eugenie's famous collection. The string of perfect pearls that Mrs. Belmont did own, which cost $1,000,000, and which were collected for her by her former husband, William K. Vanderbilt, she gave to her daughter on her marriage to the Duke of Mariborough.

Everyone knows about Mrs. I. Townsend Burden's jewels. Mr. Burden is not as rich as his brother, James A. Burden, and Mrs. Burden is not likely to appear in more than $100,000 worth of diamonds. These would include the $50,000 stolen and recovered gems and those she was wearing at the time of the robbery.

In consequence of Hoesig's disappearance his wife, Ernestine, is considerably worried and has requested the police to find him. not that she wanted him to return, but did desire to look once more upon the $20 and the watch.

For years Hoesig has been a familiar street figure, standing on the busy corners with a bundle of shoe-strings about his neck and a box of collar-buttons in front of him. He was 60 years old, shoulders bent and had a wrinkled and griszled face.

He and his wife lived at 7524 Michigan avenue. She is living there now. They lived apparently in comfortable circumstances, their neighbors not knowing Hoesig was a peddler.

Saturday morning Hoesig left the house early for the city. He took a certificate of deposit on the German Savings Bank for $250. The money belonged to Mrs. Hoesis, but he had placed it in the bank under his own name.

After he had been gone from the house a few hours Mrs. Hoesig was unable to find her gold watch. She was sure that she had left it in the sewing machine drawer, but it was not there. She naturally supposed her husband had taken it as he had the certificate of deposit.

She waited all that night, Sunday and Sunday night, but her husband did not return. Monday morning she called at the Carondelet Police Station and asked the police to look for him.

BANK JUDGMENT OBTAINED.

Was on Promissory Notes Jeptha D. Simpson.

n the suit of the Laclede National Bank gainst the estate of the late Jeptha D. impson, Judge Flitcraft rendered judgment or *14,685.77 in favor of the bank Monday.

The case was appealed from the Probate Court by Public Administrator Wm. C. Richardson, in charge of the estate. The bank was allowed $21,704.66 in the Probate Court.

The matter was referred originally to Arba N. Crane by Judge Flitcraft and Judgment was rendered on his report.

The suit was on promissory notes held by the bank, which sold the collateral, itself buying it in. It was contended that this was irregular, but the referre ruled otherwise and was sustained by Judge Flitcraft. Simpson died February 23, 1893, leaving a considerable estate, but so many obligations, arising from his management of trust funds, that the estate was soon almost exhausted.

Mr. Robinson is the leading American epresentative of the "Impressionist chool." He was born at Irasburg, Vt. His early art studies were pursued in Boston and New York. In Paris he worked under the instructions of Carolus Duran and Geraine. An attachment that sprung up between him and Paul Mooet, the most noteworthy of living French Impressionists, had a radical influence on the character of his work.

Robinson died in the spring of 1895.

Though a true impressionist his American vision saves him from the American vision saves him from the va-garies of his French colleagues. He has applied all that is good in the gospel of im-pression to his works, casting aside the de-cadent affectations of his school. He will give to those unacquainted with the technicalities of art an opportunity to intelligently realize an impressionist ple-ture.

Tuesday evening the exhibition will be opened with a reception to the life members of the museum. Following that it will be open to the public for a fortnight.

Director Halsey C. Ives promises that he will make the museum a center of lively, art interest during the winter. Arrangements are under way to bring here a number of private collections and there may be several popular displays, for instance the Dore gallery. "Breaking Home Ties" and one of Verestchagin's mammoth canvases.

Mr. Ives hopes that by securing exhibits that will draw people to the museum he can interest the people of the city in the place. He has been working to this end for several years, but without appreciable success.

There are several reasons for this. One is the location of the museum, which is neither up or down-town. If it were below. Twelfth street or west of Grand avenue, it would be at either end of a trip for most of the city's wayfarers. As it is, mighty few

A SURGEON'S MIRACLE.

I have just received a letter from an eld friend which recalls a remarkable operation I once performed in transfusion of blood. Some months ago I was introduced to an English geotheran who was making San Francisco his headquarters with the expetitation of meeting his san, who had set out about a year before to make the tour of the world by the Eastern route. Community of tastes threw us much torether, and one day it was arranged that we should make a duck shooting expedition to some convenient quarter.

Tomales Bay was the locality selected, and thither we went with the intention of taking a three-days' holiday. On the second day, however, but an we were in the act of pushing the street of the selected of the brought, and administered it to them freeliy, at the same time diverting their thoughts as much as possible. Soon I noticed that the color was returning to Wycherly's odiscontent.

The color was returning to Wycherly's cheeks. It was evident that his life was saved, and that the measures I had employed had been the means of doing it.

About haif an hour afterward, Fritz and Wilhelm became restive. I explained to the strong of the case that I decided to preserve the status quo for a time, at any rate.

Un to this time, at any rate.

Un to this time, at any rate.

Un to this time diverting their thoughts man who; scarcely two weeks before, had been upon his bed of death? And could it be possible, on the other hand, that I decided to a somewhat older look in the German lads appetite returned, and he was strong enough to have been up and about.

Several days more elapsed, until one mornlive in the last time, at any rate.

take outdoor exercise. I did not at once sever the connection which bound him to the two young Germans, parily because of some observations I had made which suggested a peculiar train of thought. Was it fancy that Wycherly was becoming structurally and organically affected by the new blood which was now croulating through his sysem that to move from the position they ere in much less to have the bandages ken from their arms, would entail the sath of the sick man; that their meals ould be brought to them there and that ey would even have to sleep just where ye were also that I could not thill exactly surgical and physical aspects of the case that I decided to preserve the status quo for a time. at any rate.

Up to this time, at my friend's request, I ferbore to send any intimation to his friends at home regarding the serious accident that had befallen him, as he feared to cause them unnecessary alarm. Now, however, he requested me to write them a full account of the matter, and also of his rapid convaledance. There were, he told me, only three members of his household proper, now that himself and son were absent, namely, his aged mother, his sister, and a young lady-a distant relative—who was despatched the China mail brought news from his son, who wrote to say that he found Japan so interesting that he did not propose to leave it for a month to come.

From this time on, a most remarkable physiological change began to take place in the three beings who were so curiously inked together by their circulatory systems. They were evidently becoming assimilated in physical features and conditions. Wycherly was indeed growing younger, while his companions were growing proportionately older. Once I was able to grampile the companions were growing proportionately older. Once I was able to grampile the companions were growing proportionately older. Once I was able to grampile the companions were growing proportionately older. Once I was able to grampile the companions were growing proportionately older. Once I was able to grampile the companions were growing proportionately older. Once I was able to grampile the companions were growing proportionately older. Once I was able to grampile the companions were growing proportionately older. Once I was able to grampile the companions were growing proportionately older. Once I was able to grampile the companions were growing proportionately older. Once I was able to grampile the companions were growing proportionately older. Once I was able to grampile the companion of the strange metamorphosis by remembering that the blood now dourning in the veins of this strange partnersh through keeping company with an invalid, no one thought anything of it, and no one plited them, as they had been paid liberally for their loss of vitality. Wycherly, however, upon his return to the city, sent each of them a check for an amount which amply represented the earnings of the eight years of life which they had lost. We returned to the city in company, a fashionable tailor fitted out the young English gentleman, my guest, and we arranged to meet next morning to go together to the China steamship.

Robert Paulus, the newly elected Republican director, got the position on the committee occupied by Nicholas Berg, who has neutred the enmity of some of the discours by opposing their deals.

Alexander Cudmore, whose ten years service in the board without any other occupation have not prevented his living compation have not prevented his living compation, remains on the committee.

So does C. G. Penney, whose skill in seniors has been remarked in the depositions in the School Board injunction suit.

H. C. Koenig also continues on the committee for the aid and comfort of President Bus and his followers.

John Kissner remains as chairman and C. W. Hequembourg retains his seat in the committee.

Changes are noticeable in the make-up of the new Supply Committee, almost equal in importance to the Building Committee.

William Godfrey of the Bus faction remains as Chairman, and so does Elmer E. Lacey, while Nicholas Berg is allowed to supplant John H. Spinning.

For the rest, John Brady gives way to Charles G. Penney and John Sheshan to John P. Kelleher. The two retiring have opposed every move of the ring.
On account of the defeat of the scheme to sell the Board of Education Building before it was fairly ripe, by the publicity liven it, the anticipated changes in the Lands and Leasing Committee did not materialize. There were changes, but not so many nor of the nature expected. The only change was the substitution of John Brady for Alex Cudmore. The committee now stands: Henry E. W. H. McClain remains on the committee, and Collins is promoted to the Chairmanship formerly held by Lacey. As in the Building and Supply Committees, the adherents of Bus are in the majority.

The two important committees remaining are the Ways and Means and the Teachers' Committees. John Sheahan remains on the latter, the only change being the substitution of John P. Kelleher for John H. Spinning as further reward for his support of Bus. Vice President Grawe, of course, remains Chairman, the other members being William E. Landvogt, W. H. McClain, E. H. Vordtriede, William Godfrey.

William E. Landvogt continues chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, the only change being the removal of Cudmore in favor of John H. Spinning. The other members are H. C. Grawe, John Kissner and John C. Matlack.

Three highwaymen captured by the Third District police Saturday night may not be the "smoot three," but they are probably guilty of some of the many burglaries and abloiden sure and hold-ups that have occurred in this city within the last three weeks.

The prisoners are now locked up at the Soulard Sized Station, awaiting investigation and hold-ups that have occurred in this city within the last three weeks.

were detailed to look out for the territy along the south side of Lafayette Park, with instructions to hold up every suspicious character.

Sunday night they went on duty at 7 o'clock and beat around their bailiwick until about 10, when they strolled into Nicholson place. This is a private street, running south from Lafayette avenue two blocks, and ends in a blind. It commences Just opposite the Lafayette Park Police Station, and is inhabited by well to do people.

The south end is closed by two brick dwellings. Between the one lying further to the west and the east house on the west side of the street there is a narrow gangway leading to the rear. Egress to Geyer avenue is stopped by a high iron fence.

The policemen laid down on the grass in one of the yards overlooking this gangway.

From their point of vantage they could see the whole length of the place to Lafayette avenue.

Pretty soon three men came swiftly but quietly down the street, glancing suspiciously about them. Every now and then they stepped and looked up at the houses. They were on the east sidewalk, and when they stopped snd looked up at the houses. They were on the east sidewalk, and when they stopped snd looked up at the houses. The two officers waited until the men came abreast of them. Then they sprang to their feet.

"Throw up your hands," they cried, like a couple of highwaymen, leveling their pistols at the approaching trio.

The fatter obeyed and the policeman grabbing them made themselves known.

There was no attempt at resistance and soon they were all at the station house.

When the men were searched it became evident that they were crooks. Each one had a revolver. Hayden and Holstein had box and called for assistance from the Police Station. In a few minutes two policemen reached him and, because of his injured eyes, he was sent home. He was confident that he had wounded Abel.

Abel is a police character of long standing. He has been arrested on numerous petty offenses and most of the policemen knew him.

A search was begun for Abel. Every suspected house in the Levee district was searched, but Abel was not found until the house at 200 Plum street, opposite the house where Abel fought with Shannon, was reached.

That was about 3 o'clock Sunday night. Abel was there, stretched out on a cot in a second-story room, surrounded by a group of rough acquaintances. No doctor had been called.

Tierney's bullet had entered the small of Abel's back, plerced several of the intestines and penetrated the bladder, emerging from the forward and lower part of the abdomen. After the bullet had gone clear through the body its force was spent and it dropped down between the drawers and the skin of his right leg, lodging in the top of the sock.

An ambulance was called and Abel was taken to the City Hospital. Dr. Sutter performed laparotomy at once, but so complicated was the wound and so long had it been neglected that the chances of Abel living were far below par.

Under more favorable opportunities of treatment such a wound has always been considered fatal, but under the unfavorable circumstances of Abel's wound Dr. Sutter considered it necessarily fatal.

Monday morning Abel was so low and weak that he could speak only with an effort.

Monday morning Abel was so low and weak that he could speak only with an effort.

Abel's record with the police has been a long one. He is wanted to answer a charge of seaault with intent to kill Joseph Stutter of 533 Indiana avenue. Six months ago he dangerously cut Stutter on Poplar street, between Fourth street and Broadway. Previous to that, he had served several terms in the Work House for larcenies.

Shannon was arrested late Sunday night, charged with disturbing the peace.

A peculiar interest is attached to the affair because of where it happened. The house at 300 Plum street has long been known to the police as the "House of Blazes," because of its many fishts and shooting scrapes. It is nothing uncommon for a shooting to occur in the place. The house is conducted by a woman known as Mrs. Drew. She rents the rooms to lodgers and the large front room is used as a "canning joint."

Every night and all of Sunday the lodgers and the large front room is used as a "canning joint."

Every night and all of Sunday the lodgers and their friends gather in that room and give the beer can a vigorous circulation. As a result of the drunks that occur, there are many fights and as many shooting scrapes.

On the return voyage from their annual trip abroad Mr. and Mrs. Busch were pasengers on the steamer Spree of the North German Lloyd line. Half way across the vessel encountered wild weather—not an unusual thing on the Atlantic at this season of the year. But one storm came up that literally frightened the passengers and ship's crew out of their boots.

Mr. Busch is a pretty good old sea dog and a man not liable to fear on land or water, but the tossing of the ship and the pounding of the breakers disrupted the little confab over the schnapps which the brewer and the captain were enjoying. They found the passengers huddled together in the cabin in abject terror. Some were praying, many were making the most extravagant vows if Providence would only spare them the horrors of death at sea.

Mr. Busch was impressed and made a mental note that if he ever got back to St. Louis he would be duly appreciative.

So it happened that Friday afternoon he took the first spare time he had and drove out to the Memorial Home on Grand avenue near Tower Grove Park to see what he could do for the deserving refuge for the aged.

He delighted the management by promise ing an endowment that would enable the institution to meet the demands upon it. He has not stated the amount of his donation, but he will figure on enough to add fifty rooms, beautify the surrroundings of the home and supply some much-needed internal improvements.

Mr. Busch was engrossed all Monday with his legal advisers and could not be interviewed. Mr. Gus Busch, his son, could not confirm or deny the story, which is given as Mr. Busch told it to several nitmate friends. He was rather inclined to doubt the story, as his father had told him nothing of it.

Later in the day young Mr. Busch was seen again. He had spoken to his father in the meanwhile.

"Father has made several promises of charitable assistance since his return, he said. "His philanthropy, though, is not the result of any vow made during voyage, but rather enjoyed the mean the late in author he cause to return home late in author, because to return home late in author, because to return home late in author, because the las and the fun of he was soon many people crasy to live and in terrible agony over possible death, he thought he had some reason to be thankful in case he arrived home safe, and he made up his mind if the election turned out all right he would show his appreciation.

"He is enjoying himself now by figuring on a few places where he can do some good but he goes about those things systematically and will not be prepared to say what he is going to do until he has his plans clearly worked out in his own mind."

"Sue" seemed to please and interest the Sunday night audience at the Century. There was much laughter and applause and the leading members of the cast were called before the curtain. So much for the effect of the first performance in St. Louis of the new play by Bret Harte and Edgar Pemberton. Whether the piece is worthy of approval is purely a matter of opinion. It approval is purely a matter of opinion. It is described as a comedy and is really a melodrama in three long acts. It is a dramatization of Bret Harte's story "The Way to the Bolinas Road," and is supposed to be a picture of Western life. The central character is a young woman who ob-jects to matrimony on the ground that she might have to kiss her husband. She then marries the man selected by her father, and after living with him three years runs away equal of any comedy old man on the English stage. The same could be said of George Cail from the point of personal pulchritude. Misses Agnes Buenger and Walley Eineck are fair to look upon and finished artists. It is no exaggeration to say that in ensemble, as well as individual excellence, the company equals Charles Frohman's Empire Stock Company. Herman Suderman's drama, "Das Glueck im Winkel," will be presented to-night.

The greatest pleasure in attending Kunkel's popular Sunday afternoon concerts is the certainty that one will hear some bright new star in the musical firmament. Yesterday it was Miss Florence B. Ellis, who surprised the audience. She is a daignous the audience. She is a daignous to the audience. The applause following her number amounted to an ovation. She was visitly embarrassed by the demonstration. Mr. Charles Kunkel gave the "Sonata Pathetique" with all his old fire and disprimination. The other artists were Mrs. A. D. Chappell, soprano; Mr. Charles Kaub, violinist, and Master Charles Jacob Kunkel, who gives his uncle splendid support in the closing duet.

Abraham Sedrick, colored, left his spring wagon attached to a horse standing in the yard in the rear of the church at Kossum ination. The other artists were Mrs. 4. D. Chappell, soprano; Mr. Charles Jacob Kunke, instead of the rig. They were Elmer Newson, 322 North Grand avenue; George Davis, 420 Natural Bridge road, and Will Welker, 250 Bacon street.

On Prairie avenue, between Twentieth and Von Phul streets, the horse became frightened and, to the boys, was unmanageable.

In turning the corner from Cowan street onto Broadway the wagon upset, striking Mrs. Muchiem and knocking her down.

When the wagon turned over the boys jumped out and escaped.

Mrs. Muchiem's injuries are not considered ered serious.

for Lack of Funds.

Forty men who have been employed by the city as linemen began an enforced vacation Monday. They received notice from Superintendent Benedict of the Fire and Police Alarm Service Saturday night that they were needed no longer.

The cause for their discharge was that the Comptroller notified Mr. Benedict that there would be no mensy available for day laborers in the department until after New Year's.

Besides the regular force of operators, inspectors and repairers to the number of 22, provided by ordinance for the Fire and Police Alarm Service, Mr. Benedict usually carries a force of 21 innemen, classed as day laborers, and paid $1.50 per day. After the tornado this force was raised to 8. Some time ago it was reduced to 6, and Saturday it was wiped out.

Assistant Superintendent Hilgendorf says that on account of the reconstruction made necessary by the tornade, and the improvements due to the increase of the police disments the city wire service was never in hetter condition. He says that the regular force of inspectors and repairers is sufficient to keep the lines in condition.
